

The 2019 Royal Pharmaceutical Society/ UCL School of Pharmacy New Year Lecture

The Prevention and Treatment of Diabetes

Dr Elizabeth Robertson, Director of Research, Diabetes UK

Discussants

Philip Newland-Jones, Consultant Pharmacist in Diabetes and Endocrinology,
University Hospitals Southampton NHS Foundation Trust

Sir Sam Everington, OBE, Chair, Tower Hamlets Clinical Commissioning Group

On behalf of the Royal Pharmaceutical Society and the UCL School of Pharmacy
Professor Ashok Soni and Professor Duncan Craig request the pleasure of your company at the 2019 Royal Pharmaceutical Society/UCL School of Pharmacy New Year Lecture

at The Royal Society
6 – 9 Carlton House Terrace
London, SW1Y 5AG

Thursday 10 January 2019

6.15pm for 6.45pm

PROGRAMME

6.15pm	Coffee and greetings
6.45pm	Introduction by the Chairman, Professor David Taylor
6.55pm – 7.40pm	The Prevention and Treatment of Diabetes The 2018 Royal Pharmaceutical Society/UCL School of Pharmacy Lecture by Dr Elizabeth Robertson, Diabetes UK
7.40pm – 8.20pm	Discussion led by Philip Newland-Jones and Sir Sam Everington
8.20pm	Closing remarks by David Taylor and a vote of thanks to the speakers and guests given by Professor Ashok Soni, President of the Royal Pharmaceutical Society
8.30pm	Buffet and refreshments

This event will seek to raise awareness of diabetes prevention and treatment opportunities and the roles that pharmacy and the pharmaceutical sciences can play in improving health outcomes.

The UCL School of Pharmacy was founded in 1842 as the School of the Pharmaceutical Society of Great Britain. The School of Pharmacy joined UCL in January 2012.

RSVP to Dr Monika Heller at Monika.Heller@ucl.ac.uk

ROYAL
PHARMACEUTICAL SOCIETY

